2013 Ability Expo

The 2013 KC Ability Expo will be held at The Overland Park Convention Center September 28th from 10AM-4PM. The purpose is to create a metro-wide ability expo for those with disabilities and older adults, their families, caregivers, healthcare professionals. It is also an educational opportunity for the entire Greater Kansas City community. At the expo, KCVA will welcome home all Veterans from previous wars as well as current conflicts.

Resources will be ranging from educational seminars, booths for service providers who provide products or services to the disabled community, booths featuring governmental and not-for-profit agencies. There will also be adaptive sports, exercise and recreational demonstrations. The focus of the expo is to have a "one-stop" opportunity for persons with disabilities, their caregivers, families, and professionals who serve persons with disabilities to gain information about valuable resources and products. Attendees will have a chance to explore the booths, talk to representatives and trial equipment.
